Sarah:

As I mentioned last night at the CAG meeting, we discovered that one of the hard copy slides provided to you following our presentation had inadvertently been altered and we did not notice until after you had left. Apparently when we made a revision to the key on that particular slide (Slide #28), it somehow caused some of the data to drop off of the page (still not sure how, but I'll leave that to the more computer savvy folks here). We have therefore corrected that issue and are now providing you with an electronic copy of the corrected slide deck. Please discard the hard copies that were provided yesterday and replace them with this copy. Thank you very much, and thank you again for your time yesterday.

Regards,

Adam
